Ponaganset High School

is the first school in Rhode Island to be named a National Unified Champion School. The Banner was presented in November of 2017 by Special Olympics Chairman Timothy Shriver.

Work-Based Learning

WBL is a critical component of a student’s career pathway, and encompasses activities that provide students with real-life work experiences. Eligible students may participate in Internships and school-based enterprises, such as our school store. Other opportunities include spending a day at work shadowing a professional or participating in a site visit.

Job Shadows
